School Items.

We have been fortunate thus far in escaping what many other schools are having—measles and whooping cough. Monthly examinations are in progress to-day. Many are excused from them by reason of class standing and being neither absent nor tardy. Let us do even better next month.

Messrs. Rue Douglas and Roy Tuttle were callers at the school recently.

Miss Susie Brummel has left school and assumed the duties of teacher.

High school leycum is about to be revived and will continue to the end of the winter term.

Pupils who desire to improve in singing can get Gospel Hymns No. 6, with or without music, at the book stores. Boys, get books and help us sing. They say boys of the present age are not singers. Is it true? With your lusty bodies surely you can sing.

Misses Walter and Burdick will go elsewhere for Thanksgiving turkey.

How it Happened.

A Lainsburg correspondent of the Lansing Republican sizes up the late unpleasantness in John L. Sullivan style, as follows:

In common with the balance of the g. o. p., I am downed, and I own up licked. Not exactly like Lazarus in all respects, perhaps, but knocked out and bested to beat all.

We came up promptly, but got a chin lift in the first round that sent us clean over the ropes and sprawled us out in great shape. Here we are, what there is left of us, and our name is Sullivan. We have met the enemy and we are his.

And now there will spring up a pack of idiots who will tell us how it all happened. Go to now—well, go to sheol, or Gogebic or Texas, or Sahara—any place where you will dry up. The whole campaign from Minneapolis to misery was a succession of brilliant blunders and a dazlingly direct detours to circumvent the enemy in their conception and damnable in their execution. But don't mention it. Some one will say that it was because we didn't have votes enough. That is a measly, wooden-headed lie. We had the votes but didn't poll them.

Now, pull out the calamity stop and start the piping organs of the party while the managers pass the remains around for inspection by the mourners. Whew! what a time we'll have when Bennie comes marching home. Then rosin and turpentine will go up and rum and molasses will go down, and men will work for four shillings a day and call for more rocks to fall upon them. I feel a sense of goneness under my liver pad.

Lives of great men oft remind us
We may pater out sometime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Nothing you can call sublime.

The Cedar Springs Clipper thus nominates a candidate for the Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives: The speakership of the House of Representatives of the State of Michigan is not only an honorable but a responsible position, and the Republicans should be careful in the selection of a gentleman in every way fitted for the place. Such a man is Roswell P. Bishop of Ludington, Mason county, who has been elected by a handsome majority. The writer served in the 1883 body with Mr. Bishop and found him not only one of the ablest members of that body but strictly honest, and a fine parliamentarian. Mr. Bishop has an excellent war record, having left his right arm on the field May 1, 1862. He is a thorough gentleman and scholar and with the experience of one term would make a creditable presiding officer and reflect great credit upon the state, his party and himself, and should be elected.

Michigan's World's Fair Exhibit.

Chairman I. M. Weston of the Michigan World's Fair commissioners has fully outlined the plans for the state forestry and mining exhibits. Among other things he said: "We have already provided for most of the tree and seed collections. Among other things we expect to have a big elm tree from Elk Rapids which is six feet in circumference at the bottom and four feet around at the height of eighty feet. It is unquestionably the biggest elm in Michigan, if not in the United States. We shall also have some white pines seven feet in diameter. There will be a dazzling array of maples and we shall exhibit a sassafras tree. Arrangements have been made for a real logging camp, with shanties and a sleigh filled with the largest load of saw logs ever seen. Snow? Well, we shall have salt serve that purpose. There is no other state in the union that will have so good a forestry exhibit, unless, perhaps, West Virginia, where the railroad companies have raised a big fund. But the forestry exhibit will not be our biggest display. Peter White has asked for 13,000 square feet. We shall only be able to give him 2,400, and there is a mineral water man who asked for space equal to about one-fourth of that reserved for the whole mineral exhibit. He will have to content himself with a shelf I guess. There is some crowding in the manufacturing department. Over ten times as much space has been applied for as we have available."

An accidental shooting occurred Sunday afternoon about two miles southwest of Oshtemo, on the Kennedy farm, resulting in the death of Carl Schmidt, 28 years old and single. Schmidt and August Hartman, a relative and near neighbor, with his two boys, were hunting rabbits, the men carrying double-barreled shotguns cocked ready for use. Hartman, being in the rear of Schmidt six or eight feet, stumbled, and in trying to save himself, discharged one barrel of his gun squarely into Schmidt's back just below the right shoulder blade, driving oxe rib and a lot of his clothing into his body, making a hole two inches in diameter. He was taken to Wm. Alfreds' house near by. Dr. Burke was immediately summoned, who staunched the blood and made him as comfortable as possible, but gave no encouragement. He remained conscious until 6 o'clock Monday morning when he passed away.

In nearly every line of trade the space allotted for exhibition purposes at the World's Fair is less than half of the amount applied for. This illustrates the widespread interest taken in the Exposition by the business men of the nation, and is evidence also of the purpose on all sides to have the Fair thoroughly representative of every trade and industry in the country. Over 2,500 separate applications for space have been made through the New York State Board, and Secretary Stanton expects to add another thousand before the year is out. It will be gratifying to exhibitors also to know that the allotment of space has been begun, and that notifications are being sent out daily of the amount each exhibitor can have. This gives ample time for all to prepare their exhibits and to have everything in proper shape for opening day next spring.

Last Sunday a most skillful operation was performed on McGregory Wilkes, the famous horse owned by Eugene Lyle. For some time the horse has been troubled with paralysis, and on account of which it was not put on the turf this season. Dr. Price, of the farm of Price & Butler of Minneapolis, Minn., assisted by Dr. Paul, performed the operation. The horse was chloroformed, the throat cut open and the left vocal cord taken out. The operation is one of the most difficult to perform successfully and Dr. Price is the first man who ever succeeded in cutting out a vocal cord. The horse is getting along nicely and will quite likely be put on the track next season.—Douglas Standard.

"Richard and his Sweetheart, Nell," song and chorus, quarto, sent free to any address by Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co., South Bend Ind., on receipt of stamps to cover postage and mailing. The verses relate the story of a drive taken by Richard and Nell. The title page has an elegant picture, specially designed by the artist, Gray Parker, showing Richard and his sweetheart about starting out on their memorable drive. The words, of course, constitute a love story. The share in it of the Studebakers is merely incidental. The melody is delightful, and was composed for the words by the well known musical writer, W. F. Sudds.

The new Young Men's Christian association building at Kalamazoo, which cost $50,000 exclusive of site, was dedicated on the evening of the 15th inst. Addresses were made by S. S. McCamley, Frank Haskell, Senator Stockbridge J. L. Houghteling, of Chicago, and State Secretary Clarke. A committee of ten was appointed to raise the $10,000 mortgage, and Senator Stockbridge subscribed $500. The senator donated the valuable Main street site on which the building stands.

A Benton Harbor business man offers to donate one half per cent of his sales towards establishing a fund for securing factories, provided other business men will do the same.

John Less, an Alpena man, had saved about $80. Not believing in such flimsy affairs as banks, he stored the stuff away in a tin can. It's gone. John suspects a woman of being the thief.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. "One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlin's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited; then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine." CHARLES A. THOMPSON, Des Moines, Iowa. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Legwell Bros. Paw Paw, and J. F. Barrows, Lawrence. Nov.

Paw Paw, Nov. 7.—Snow Bros., Gents: I can cheerfully recommend your Furnaces. The No. 6 which you placed in my house one year ago warms my house to my entire satisfaction. It distributes the heated air evenly all through the house; keeps fire all right with perfect ease; is easily handled and economical, and in fact a perfect heater. Yours truly, GEO. W. LONGWELL.
